

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and material for refurbishing vinyl and other painted surfaces includes the steps of cleaning the surface with a detergent, drying the surface, applying a revitalizer to the surface, and drying the surface such that the surface has an improved appearance. The surface may be vinyl or other painted surfaces, which may take the form of shutters, gutters and siding. Further, the improved method may also include the step of priming the surface prior to applying the revitalizer in order to promote adhesion of the revitalizer to the surface.
